

Demonstrating CSS Styling Methods

Inline Styling

This text is styled using an inline style attribute directly on the div element. This method should generally be avoided for large projects as it doesn't allow for easy reuse.

External Styling

This text is styled using an external style sheet (external_styles.css) linked in the `<head>` section. This is the most recommended method for large-scale projects.

Internal Styling

This text is styled using an internal style sheet defined within the `<style>` tags in the `<head>` section. This is useful for single-page applications or when a style is unique to one page.
